

Hello whisky society family!!! Happy New Year!!! It was great seeing some of you for the Irish / Scottish New Year's party at 4pm on NYE. Live streaming from Dublin complimented with our fun traditions was well attended. If you miss it, make sure to add it to your calendar.

We are looking forward to 2026 and all the great experiences that will come with it.

New this Month at the Pub- Whisk(e)y Flights!!! One of our society members, Joe Hass made us these amazing wood Whisk(e)y Books. Inside these works of art are our entire whisk(e)y list and our new flight menus. All society members get $2 off any of the flight in this book.

For the Month of JANUARY- Burns Night Sunday January 25th.

Dinner starts at 3pm until sold out, we will be serving Haggis Neeps & Taddies, this event was a great success last year, so we hope to see each one of you. We will have live bagpipers, live traditional Celtic music and poetry readings.

Also, the 25th of January is Whisk(e)y Society Sign up night. That's right, we are opening the books and signing up new members. Send in people you know who would fit into our amazing little society. I will be there singing people up and I will have a special scotch that I will be sharing with society members only. So come down and enjoy.

Next Month- we will be having a whisk(e)y society event, stay tuned for details. It looks like it will be the 3rd week of the month, still finalizing the details, probably the 19th. I will let you all know as soon as I know.

WHISKY OF THE MONTH TIME- To start the New Year we are going to feature one of the most popular and dominant Scotch Whisky's, Glenmorangie!!!

<https://www.glenmorangie.com/en-us>

This amazing whisky was founded in 1843. Its home is in the highlands in Tain, Ross-Shire Scotland, which is very far north off the waters of the Dornoch Firth River.

A little history about this amazing brand:

The earliest production on the Morangie farm started in 1703. There was a brewery on site that was later converted to a distillery by the original owner, William Matheson. William was a former distillery manager at Balbair. William started the distillery; he later named Glenmorangie. He owned and operated the distillery until 1918. It was then purchased from a firm in Leith Scotland named Macdonald and Muir. They owned it for 90 years until it was eventually sold in 2004 to the French company Louis Vuitton Moët Hennessey who still owns it today.

Glenmorangie is and has been around 1983, the bestselling single malt in the world. They sell around 10 million bottles per annum. That is around 6% of the entire world's single malt category. Pretty amazing to be able to produce such amazing whisky at that volume and maintain such a high-quality product. It really is an amazing highland single malt.

THE PEOPLE

Distillers of Tain

Glenmorangie has had many loyal team members over the years, but few men or women devoted so much of their lives to the Distillery as Gordon L Smart (1895-1972). Gordon was appointed Distillery manager in 1920 after his father Alexander, the previous Distillery manager, passed away. It was a position he would fill for a remarkable fifty years. His core workforce at the Distillery - the so-called '16 Men of Tain' - were also long-serving and provided a wealth of whisky making experience and time-honoured skills.

Today there are '24 Distillers of Tain' led by Distillery manager, Edward Thom, who in 2022 won the Global Distillery Manager of the year at the prestigious Whisky Magazine Icons of Whisky Awards. Glenmorangie has continued to support and build strong relationships with its surrounding community, attracting many generations to craft its award winning whiskies over the years.
