Wine Feature:

José Pastor Selections

Ever wonder how a bottle from a tiny vineyard in Galicia ends up on your table in Austin? In the U.S., wine takes a winding route through the three-tier system: producer, importer/distributor, then retailer (restaurant). The middlemen aren't always glamorous, but they're often the reason we get to drink the good stuff.

Here's a little wine-geek trick: next time you're enjoying an imported wine, flip over to the back label where you'll find the name of the importer who brought it here. Most likely you'll find that you will enjoy other wines in the importer's portfolio. It's a fun way to expand your wine knowledge and experience!

This month, we're shining a light on one of our favorites:
José Pastor Selections.

They have championed low intervention, terroir-driven, small production wines from Spain and beyond for decades. Highlighted you will find a small sample of spectacular wines from this portfolio. Ask your server if you have any questions.
